Unit IV: Lesson A1

Chart: Government Jobs

Research jobs available in local government.

Compile a list of available jobs. Distinguish between elected and appointed positions in a local government. Make a chart with two columns in which you list on one side the elected positions in local government, and on the other side appointed positions.

Share your chart with your class when you are studying about local government positions. Be prepared to help other students understand the difference between elected and appointed positions in government.
